

Easter writing competition

Dear Parents and carers,

This year we are very excited to be running our Easter writing competition once again. Last year so many children joined in and we made a book out of all the lovely stories. We are really working to develop a love of writing here at Wootton Bassett Infants' School. We promote writing for pleasure at school through the childrens free writing books in Years 1 and 2 and also by motivating the children to write during our English lessons by using books they enjoy and writing in response to different experiences, stories and poems.

We would love it if the children also had a go at writing more at home so in order to encourage this we are running a competition which the children can complete during the Easter holidays.

We would like the children to write an Easter themed story using the roll a story sheet. The children throw the die and then find out what their story will be about.

Remember stories can start with Once upon a time, One day, One dark night - or any other way you would like. Where will the story take you? Make sure your story has a beginning, middle and end - but remember anything can happen in stories!

The children will need to bring this back to school during the first week back after the Easter holidays. There will be certificates, a prize for each class and also an overall winner. Please make sure you write your name and class on your entry.

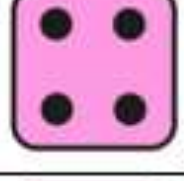

We hope you have a lovely Easter and happy writing!
